

September 6, 2011

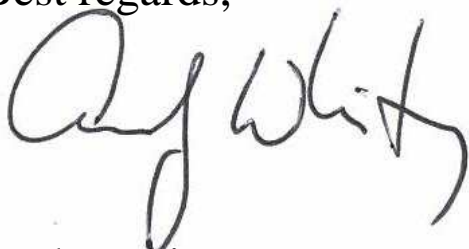

Dear Parents,

This Friday, September 9, ECLC will be celebrating Chusok, an important Korean holiday of thanksgiving. The children will be learning about the meaning of Chusok, the traditional games played and the foods served to celebrate this special time of year. They will have the opportunity to make songpyon, the traditional Korean dessert cakes eaten during Chusok.

We encourage children who would like to come to school dressed in traditional Korean hanbok. There will be a number of Chusok-related activities going on and this will add to the festive atmosphere during that day. This is not mandatory so please don't force your child if he or she is not so inclined. For those who wear this special clothing, please include regular clothing in the backpack so your child can change later in the morning.

On behalf of the staff at ECLC, I wish you a restful and enjoyable Chusok holiday.

Best regards,

Andy Whitney
Head of School

September 6, 2011

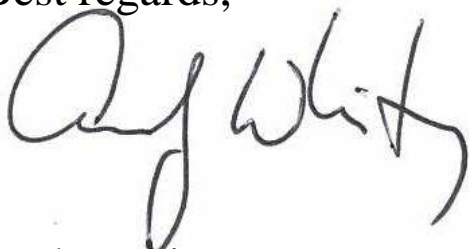

Dear Parents,

This Friday, September 9, ECLC will be celebrating Chusok, an important Korean holiday of thanksgiving. The children will be learning about the meaning of Chusok, the traditional games played and the foods served to celebrate this special time of year. They will have the opportunity to make songpyon, the traditional Korean dessert cakes eaten during Chusok.

We encourage children who would like to come to school dressed in traditional Korean hanbok. There will be a number of Chusok-related activities going on and this will add to the festive atmosphere during that day. This is not mandatory so please don't force your child if he or she is not so inclined. For those who wear this special clothing, please include regular clothing in the backpack so your child can change later in the morning.

On behalf of the staff at ECLC, I wish you a restful and enjoyable Chusok holiday.

Best regards,

Andy Whitney
Head of School